

'Community of the Future – Challenges and New Approaches to Community Based Work, Social Service and Diaconia from the CABLE Approach'

Jouko Porkka & Marja Pentikäinen (eds.)

Diaconia University of Applied Sciences, Helsinki, 2013

This book which describes the CABLE approach and its application in different contexts has just been published. It contains papers which were presented at a seminar in Helsinki University and as well as exploring the CABLE approach and its pedagogy, papers also discuss its application to different national contexts and situations. Authors are from the five countries which have member organisations in the CABLE network.

Available to order from <http://granum.uta.fi/>

Or on line as a pdf to download: <http://urn.fi/URN:ISBN:978-952-493-190-8>

Here is a list of the contents:

Introduction

Jouko Porkka, Jarmo Kökkö & Marja Pentikäinen

Chapter one: Exposure, Community Based Learning & Community Development Work

- Tony Addy: Reflections on the CABLE approach to community based work, social service and Diaconia
- Herman Iljerman: We are everywhere
- Marianne Nylund: Perspective on Community Development Work from Finland
- Antti Elenius: Open questions from an 'inter-regional' perspective

Chapter two: CABLE and Community Development Work

- Introduction to the chapter
- Jim Robertson: The faith in our community project ... A Reflective Consideration
- Kaija Tuuri: The Roottori project
- Reflections of the workshop

Chapter three: CABLE and Community Diaconia

- Introduction to the chapter
- Tony Addy: CABLE, Community Development & Community Diaconia
- Fokje Wierdsma: Diaconia and community
- Ulla Jokela: Community Diaconia in Finland – Does it exist?
- Reflections of the workshop

Chapter four: CABLE in the Context of Social Services

- Introduction to the chapter
- Prakash Dhakal: Community Development Learning: The DSS experience as an orientation to social services
- Jouni Kylmäla: From life-world to system-world and back
- Reflections of the workshop

Chapter five: CABLE as a Pedagogical Approach

- Introduction to the chapter
- Katri Valve: A Perspective on the Exposure Approach to Pedagogy in Community Development Work
- Eva Kavková: The CABLE Approach in Practice - The Experience of EKS, Prague
- Janka Adameová: Learning for Diaconia in Central and Eastern Europe: The experience of the CABLE approach in interdiac
- Reflections of the workshop

Chapter six: Experiences in modern activities

- Introduction to the chapter
- Iisa Karsten & Satu Ryöttä: Not For but With the Service Users - CABLE in the accommodation services of HDL (translation and summary by Jarno Porkka)
- Reflections of the workshop

Chapter seven: Conclusions

- Raili Gothóni: Reflections on the theme
- Tony Addy: Towards the Community of the Future – Concluding Reflections